Learning Information WorkPlace

ISI is now offering classes on Information WorkPlace (IWP), including the Client applications Jacana and Valet.

Class sessions are geared to two types of audiences:

For the End Users or personnel responsible for creating and running reports, the course will cover basic to advanced report creation with both "green-screen" and the Client Jacana.

For the Technical Staff or personnel responsible for installing, configuring, and managing Info WorkPlace, the course will also include creating subsets, Derived Fields, Macros and site administration.

Hands-on exercises reinforce the material learned in each session.

This five-day course is modular, and can be held in non-contiguous sessions, either at ISI or at the customer site.
